Option #1

The westward travelers build a bridge with the Native Americans and they buy supplies and food for the bridge. They buy it from the settlers.

	Positives	Negatives
Westward Travelers L	They don't die crossing the river.	They have to buy the supplies to build the bridge.
Missouri Settlers X	They get business by the travelers buying supplies.	They might run out of items to sell.
Native Americans X	The native americans help build the bridge and get food from travelers so	The travelers might argue with them.

the travelers don't take their land.

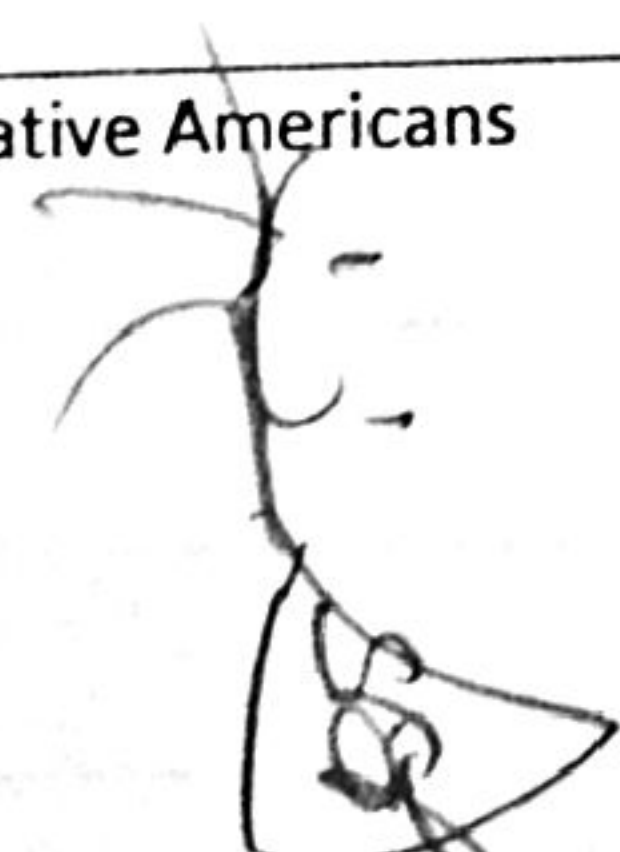

Option #2

Everyone stayed but the travelers still went to get supplies from the settlers and go home after that.

	Positives	Negatives
Westward Travelers 	Still have enough supplies.	They don't get any gold.
Missouri Settlers 	They still get business and money.	Might not get as much money.
Native Americans 	They keep their land because the travelers did not travel to them to take it.

Happel

The Native Americans and Travelers travel together and the Native Americans can go home any time they want

	Positives	Negatives
Westward Travelers 	They can still travel and get gold.	They would not get as much gold might have fights.
Missouri Settlers 	They would get twice as much money.	They would run out of items to sell.
Native Americans 	They don't lose their land and they get gold and not die as much	They might fight with the travelers

The option we picked:

Option #2

Factual support for our choice:

1. The travelers still have enough supplies to live, but they don't get any gold.
2. The settlers still get business and money, but they might not get as much money as they want.
3. The Native Americans keep their land because the travelers did not travel to them to take it and there's no negative for the Native Americans.
